

Carol Kimble

I grew up in Montana. As a child, living on the farm in central Montana, my dad spent hours with me drawing the beauty around us. I love to draw. My mom shared her love with me for beautiful fabrics as she created amazing wearables. She used stunning wools, silks, cottons, brocades, fibers and threads.

I am a storyteller. I create and share my stories with my art. I use all that I came to love from those special childhood memories with my mom and dad. I use a broad variety of fabrics, fibers, dyes, inks, paints and objects as I share the stories of my life, my loves, my memories, and my experiences.
